KNOT IN IT

That's where you are if you fail to buy one of our BLACK WORSTED SUITS.

There is a time when popularity counts for something; when party lines are strictly drawn, when political disputes run high, and the voice of the orator is heard in the land. There is one subject, however, concerning which there can be no differences of opinion.

$12

Black Worsted Suits
Can't be Beaten.

There isn't any use of nominating anything against them. They have all the elements contributing to a walk over. There is more in them for the money you pay than your money ever bought before.

NOTHING CAN BE TRUER THAN THIS:

You are simply "not in it" if you don't buy and buy quickly.

People should be very careful at this season of the year as to the condition of their milk. All milk should be boiled and kept on ice, as it sours very quickly in warm weather, and at a certain point in the fermentation, considerable poison has formed. A good rule is to drink no milk that looks the least bit suspicious.

Now is the time of the year for the destruction of caterpillars. The nests have been nicely formed in the branches of the trees, and the insects are just about to come to maturity. A few hours spent in removing these clusters just now will save many a man several hours of hard labor in the course of a few weeks. See to it and have them removed.

It is funny how people discover the great importance and influence of a newspaper when they get into a scrape or do something they are ashamed of, says an exchange. They live for years without subscribing and when asked to advertise say "it don't pay," but the minute they get into a scrape they rush to the newspapers and request them not to say anything about it.

A number of Brigade and Regimental Associations will attend the Army of the Cumberland Re-Union at Chickamauga, September 1892. A., Q. & C. Route, Cincinnati Ohio.

All roads should be made wide. It is a mistake to suppose narrow roads are the cheapest. Of course, when constructing a new road the cost is in proportion to its width, but a narrow road is always the more expensive to maintain, owing to the vehicles being compelled to keep more or less to one track in the center, nothing being more destructive than the constant wear in one track. A wide road is always more evenly worn all over, provided of course, that it is constructed according to scientific principles and kept in good repair.

Lothrop Co., Publishers, Boston.

There is no surer way of getting an invalid into the cemetery, than by telling him or her how terrible they look, etc. So many good people imagine they are evincing a friendly and sympathetic interest by saying to the poor young lady, with the hollow cough, "why, my dear, I am absolutely frightened at your appearance, you are terribly run down, etc., etc." Such talk is meant for the best, but it will always depress the victim, and without doubt, has done as much, or more, than any other one thing, to expedite the passage of the victims to the cemetery.

Hall, Bay View, Mich. for the Assembly Herald, telling all about the attractions and expenses.

The celebrated Police Gazette Boxing Glove is rapidly gaining favor with the champion boxers, as it is a very rare thing nowadays to hear of any other glove being used. Peter Jackson, the famous colored champion, who recently knocked the much talked of Slavov out, ordered from Richard K. Fox a pair of 4-ounce terra cotta gloves. These were used in the recent fight before the members of the National Athletic Club. John L. Sullivan, the champion of champions, is very fond of the Police Gazette Boxing Glove and will use no other. While in the West he ordered a set of 10-ounce white kid gloves to be used on the stage and says they were the finest gloves ever used, and in the future would use them in all his fights and exhibitions.

Messrs. Harper and Bearas are up from Port Huron this week, placing a fine monument in Elmwood cemetery in memory of Chas. Andrae. The monument is the work of Harper & Forbes, well known marble dealers of Port Huron and does them credit.

Our old friend and former fellow townsman, Chas. H. Townsend, writes us that he has secured a position in an office at St. Louis, Mo. Wednesday evening as the west bound train was pulling out from the station when at the street crossing, a man, whose name we did not learn, attempted to jump on the front end of the coach. In some manner he lost his footing, but hanging on was dragged a distance of 40 rods before he was discovered by the baggage man looking out. The train was immediately stopped and the man taken on. How often it has been demonstrated that it is dangerous to try to board a moving train. Will people never learn that they place their lives in jeopardy in so doing? We did not learn the extent of this man's injuries, but he must have been considerably bruised.

Why our personal business should interest the Editor of the paper across the way, we cannot imagine, but it really seems that our safe which had the misfortune to fall down the stairs and has not as yet been repaired, is troubling his great mind amazingly. As long as he kept to politics with his underhanded slurs of our paper we made up our mind that silent contempt would be much better than open slander and we would let him run as far as his nose would allow him, but we would gently advise him now to let up (a phrase which he will probably not understand). We expect he will put in that it was all said in a spirit of fun, but any one who reads can see meanness underlying each word.

Married. Miss Hannah Roe and Samuel Doe were married in a neighboring village last week. Among the wedding presents was a bottle of Parnelee's Dyspepsia, Kidney and Liver Cure from a thoughtful friend who had given it a thorough trial and knew its great worth for the cure of dyspeptic attacks, and who knew how necessary it was for domestic happiness that such complaints should be prevented. You can buy a bottle of this valuable and effective remedy of your druggist.
